500 People Will Take Part in 1930 May Fete

Performance Will Be Given Friday at 8:45 p. m. and Saturday at 3:30 p. m. Special Rate for Children Saturday.

A cast estimated at five hundred persons; a riot of colorful costumes; the most elaborate setting ever constructed for an event of this kind—such is the MAY FETE OF 1930—THE WIZARD OF TOYLAND.

May 16 and 17 are the dates that have been set for the festival of music, dancing, and stunts which is under the direction of Miss Nell Martindale, chairman of the women's physical education department of the College. The Friday performance is to be given at 8:45 p. m., and the Saturday program at 3:30 in the afternoon.

The two thousand spectators who are expected to witness the enormous panorama will have an opportunity to see their favorite Mother Goose characters step right out of the book, and dance and sing and do all the things that they do in the nursery rhymes. Mary, the Contrary One, will be there, and the Mary of Little Lamb fame; there will be Bo-Peep, the Queen of Hearts with her delicious tarts, Curly Locks, Old King Cole, Jack and Jill, Miss Muffet, and all the others.

Then there are to be wooden soldiers, large sticks of candy, spinning tops, aeroplanes, rag dolls, French dolls, and a great many others . . . all at the beck and call of the Wizard's Wand.

Students and instructors of the College have been working for months in preparation for the affair. Much of the work of making the setting has been done by the industrial arts department under the supervision of Mr. Whiffen. Burl Zimmerman and Wayne Vencell have done much of the work in making the large Dutch Windmill, propelled by an electric motor; the sticks of candy, and the mammoth toy drum. The picket fence which is to surround the garden was also made by this department.

A large nursery rhyme book, from which the characters will step at their appointed time, has been painted by Ellis Meek, professional artist and sign-painter.

The costumes, which are to be even more gorgeous than those of last year's spectacle, have been made by the dancers who are to wear them, by various classes in physical education, and by the Faculty Dances.

Just to give an extra realistic touch to the pageant, Mary will have a real, live lamb to follow her to school; and the knave of hearts will be inspired to do his most stealthy stealing by some sure-enough tarts.

The wooden soldiers will wear soldier suits, of course, with high cocked hats, and will shoulder wooden muskets. The rag dolls, "Stiff Annies" as they are affectionately called, should create their share of the merriment, what with their red hose, their dish mop hair, red mittens, blue overalls and print dresses.

Nor will the festival lack in impressiveness and beauty. The Adagio dance, the balloon and aeroplano dances, and the grand march of the May Queen and her attendants followed by the crowning of the queen, should make the affair a picturesque one indeed.

The beautiful lighting effects, which are being arranged by Homer Hemple, superintendent of buildings at the College; the scenic background formed by

Primary Council Elects Officers

Minnie Evans was elected president of the Primary Council for the coming year at a meeting of the organization held Monday evening, April 28. Other officers elected were Loraine Harris as vice-president, and Pauline Walker as secretary-treasurer.

The retiring president is Irene Smith. Under her leadership, the organization has taken part in a number of activities during the year. The Council won a first prize in the Campus Comedies, and held its annual banquet in March. Regular meetings have been held throughout the year.

Former Student
Edwin Harris (Ned) Colbert, son of Mr. George H. Colbert of the College faculty, has been appointed to the staff of the American Museum of Natural History in New York City. He will become the understudy of Dr. Henry Fairfield Osborn, president of the Museum.

Most Popular Man Will Be Selected

The women students of the College had their day last week, when the May Queen and attendants were chosen from their number. This week, the men will come into their own, when the popularity contest gets under way following the Wednesday morning assembly.

The Field's Clothing Company are sponsoring the contest among the students of the College to elect the most popular man on the campus. The winner of the contest is to receive, with the compliments of Mr. Fields, a Skinner's all-silk lounge robe.

Notice the advertisement on page four of this paper as it explains the rules and regulations of the contest. The ballots are to be clipped from the paper, the name of the most popular man written on it, signed on the back by the one casting the vote and put in the ballot box near the bulletin board on the first floor.

Ballots that are not signed will not be counted.

Notice the lounge robe in Field's Clothing Company's window. The contest closes Wednesday evening, May 14, at 5:00 o'clock.

Mildred Sandison Wins Scholarship

Mildred Sandison, of Maryville, has recently been awarded the $150 scholarship offered annually by the Maryville Branch of the American Association of University Women. The scholarship is awarded on the basis of scholastic standing, general character, and participation in school activities, to the junior girl considered the most deserving of the award.

Miss Sandison is a member of the Tower staff, a member of Sigma Sigma Sigma, president of the Writers' Club, and has served on the student council. She earns part of the expenses of her education by acting as Mr. Dieterich's secretary. Her name has frequently appeared on the honor roll of students making the highest grades.

The scholarship has been awarded annually for five years. The girls who have received it are Elizabeth Mills of Grant City, Mary Jones of Maryville, Jenn Freeland of Atholston, Iowa, Ruth Jensen of Maryville, and Miss Sandison. Last year, Miss Jensen did not take advantage of the award, whereupon it was given to Violette Hunter, of Grant City, the Association's second choice.

The A. A. U. W. also offers a medal to the senior girl making the highest average during her senior year. This award will be made on the day of commencement, May 27.

Y.W.C.A. Has Party at Scouts' Cabin

The old and new members of the Y.W.C.A. cabinet, accompanied by their sponsors, Miss DeLue and Miss Brumback, left about five o'clock Saturday evening, May 10, for the Girl Scouts' Cabin southwest of Maryville, on their annual "cabinet retreat".

After preparing the supper, the cabinet-members spent the evening in playing games. As to the nature of the games played, the cabinet suggests that the following members be consulted: Loraine Harris on the art of riding a bicycle; Virginia Myers on the secret of lifting a girl on a chair with four fingers; Miss DeLue on how mental telepathy works; and Evelyn Evans on how to sing the "Show Me" song.

Suggestions were made as to where improvements might be made in the organization. The last official meeting of the Y. W. this quarter, it was decided, would be the initiation of new officers to their duties. This meeting was held Tuesday evening, May 13.

The officers who have been serving the organization are as follows: President, Violette Hunter; vice-president, Rebekah Botkin; secretary, Margaret Conner; treasurer, Loraine Harris; program chairman, Dorothy Winger; social service, Katherine Gray; world fellowship, Ruby Deak.

The new officers for the Y.W.C.A. are: President, Rebekah Botkin; vice-president, Clara Mae Shartzer; secretary, Mary Lou Appelman; treasurer, Dorothy Winger; program chairman, Genevieve Bucher; social service, Loli Aeklin; world fellowship, Louise Barnard.

President Uol W. Lamkin returned to the College Tuesday morning from a trip to Washington, D. C.

Y.M.C.A. Group Plans Series of Programs

"Know Yourself" was the subject of the Rev. H. D. Thompson's talk before the College Y. M. C. A. Monday evening, May 12, at 7:30 p. m. Rev. Thompson, who is pastor of the M. E. Church, South, in Maryville, gave some five reasons for one's knowing himself, and recommended that each one strive to know the inner workings of his mind and soul.

On the preceding Monday evening, Mr. Salvesen of the commerce department spoke before the organization concerning the "commerce department." Devotions were led by Allen Deak.

Members of the Y gave programs before the Maryville Hi Y on Wednesday morning, May 7, and before the Presbyterian Sunday School, on Mother's Day. The Hi Y program was given by Walter Allen, president of the College Y, Thomas Lawrence, and Clarence Worley. In June the Y will sponsor the talking picture, "The Girl Said No," at the Missouri Theatre.

Kirksville Loses Games to Bearcats

The week-end of May 1 and 2, furnished an athletic treat galore and three good victories for the Bearcats. All of two baseball games and a track meet of the dual nature were won on those two days.

In baseball the Kirksville Bulldogs, ancient rivals, were twice handily defeated, the first day by a count of 12 to 3, and the next 4 to 2. The dual meet with Peru, Nebraska, teachers, found the Bearcats winners 79 to 57.

Neither of the national games was particularly exciting, though the second was of sufficient interest to keep a crowd. On the first day the Maryville batmen found their eye potentially for the first time this season and drove Bolin's offerings all about the lot for 12 safe hits, so bunched and coupled with errors on the part of the visitors to result in the same number of runs. On the other hand Taylor pitched good steady Maryville ball for the entirety of the game and gave only 7 scattered blows.

Otis Thorburn, left-handed recruit from the short-course delegation took mound duty against Langkop and allowed four hits while his teammates were gathering five. Langkop lacked control, and one time filled the bases by hitting three consecutive batters with pitched balls. H. Fischer in three times at bat drove out a triple to the chicken house and two singles, and was given perfect batting credit as his other trip to the pluto was a sacrifice.

The Bearcat tracksters won eight firsts and tied for another in defeating their rivals from Nebraska. Twister Smith, as usual, turned in the most brilliant performance of the day by taking three firsts, a second, and running anchor position on the relay team which broke the existing M. I. A. record.

Sociologist Shows Danger in Mail Vote

Dr. A. E. Ross, noted professor of sociology at the University of Wisconsin makes the following significant statement concerning the taking of votes, on certain questions affecting the nation, by mail:

"The taking of nation-wide polls under private auspices may be a menace to democratic government for the following reasons: First, Such referenda being costly will be taken not simply when a considerable portion of the voters call for them, but when some private interest with abundant financial resources deems the time favorable to take them; Second, The referendum is taken without the safeguards which should make it fair and authoritative; Third, Once taken the interests which it favors will argue from it as if it were an authentic and official disclosure of voter opinion; Fourth, When the result of such a referendum is adverse to a law, it will be used to paralyze the law-enforcing agencies, to justify law breaking, and as an excuse for local nullification."

COLLEGE OATH
"We will never bring disgrace to this college, by any act of cowardice or dishonesty. We will fight for the ideals and sacred things of the college. We will never and obey the college laws and do our best to make a like respect and reverence in others. We will transmit this college to those who come after us, greater, better and more beautiful than it was transmitted to us."

A FLOP

In school, one of my friends was voted "the man most likely to succeed in life." It was a unanimous choice. That fellow had everything. He ran all the class day committees, staged the annual play, was toastmaster at all the banquets, managed the football team, was president of half a dozen clubs.

I ran into him on the street the other day. I was surprised to see that he was pretty threadbare.

"I wish you would come over and speak at our luncheon club next Tuesday," he said. He was still running things. "Sorry," I said, "I can't possibly spare the time."

A day or two later, I met another old classmate, who had kept tabs on our friend. I told him about the meeting. "Yes," he said. "That's Jim. Ever since he left school he has kept himself so busy running things that he hasn't had time to fulfill that class prophecy."

It's a great thing to "help along a good cause," and to "do your duty by the community," but when you begin to get too much satisfaction out of your own altruism, watch out; that's not altruism; it's vanity.

First Aid

The Red Cross expresses the opinion that college men and women, who are alert and strong, are an ideal type for life saving and first aid activity. In order to offer college students, physical training directors, and camp and pool directors an opportunity to study First Aid and Life Saving intensively, with a view to qualifying as Life Saving examiners and First Aid instructors, the National Red Cross is holding 3 special First Aid and Life Saving training schools in the Middle-West this June. These training schools will be held at Camp Wabun Annuung, Kerrville, Texas, June 9-18; Camp Oak Point, Square Lake, Stillwater, Minnesota, June 12-21; and at Bella Vista, Bentonville, Arkansas, June 10-25.

At each of these training schools, it is explained, a faculty of long experience in water rescue and First Aid work will give instruction in Life Saving technique, canoeing, boating, diving, and camp and pool management. A physician specializing in First Aid will conduct a course, First Aid certificates and membership in the Red Cross Life Saving Service will be granted students successfully passing tests. These people will then be equipped to relay benefits of their training to great numbers of people in their home communities. The institutes are ideal vacation spots.

It is anticipated by the Red Cross that many college students will wish to attend one of these training schools, and these should communicate immediately with their local Red Cross chapters, or direct with the Midwestern Branch Office of the American National Red Cross in St. Louis.

Mr. and Mrs. C. T. "Bill" Richards, of Jameson, announce the birth of a daughter, Frances Ann, April 10, 1930. Mr. Richards, B. S. 1924, who is now farming, was formerly superintendent of schools at Pattonburg. Mrs. Richards was formerly Miss Lola McNeel.

Dorm Dance

The Residence Hall girls staged a rather unusual dance Tuesday, May 8. At noon, a poster announcing a "Hobo Dance" adorned the bulletin board, and at 7:30 o'clock, the dance was in full swing.

The hobos danced at a nickel a dance with gay informality. The costumes were clever and added much to the occasion.

The proceeds of the dance were turned into the radio fund. This is the second of this type of dance that the 'dorm' has sponsored.

GOSHEN

"How can you live in Goshen?" Said a friend from far,
"This wretched country town
Where folks talk little things all year,
And plant their cabbage by the moon!"
Said I:
"I do not live in Goshen;
I eat here, sleep here, work here.
I live in Greece, where Plato taught,
And Phidias carved, and Epictetus wrote."

I dwell in Rome,
Where Michelangelo wrought in color,
form, and mass,
Where Cicero penned immortal lines,
And Vergil sang undying songs!
Think not my life is small
Because you see a puny place.
I have my books; I have my dreams;
A thousand souls have left for me enchantment.

That transcends both time and place.
And so I live in Paradise,
Not here!

The College chorus sang at the Christian Church on Monday night, April 14. The three choruses which they sang, "Christ, Our Passover" by Vogrich, and "Lift Up Your Heads" and "Hallelujah" from Handel's "Messiah," will be included in the Easter program.

The Ohio State University in cooperation with the State Department of Education of Ohio and the Payne Fund of New York City announces an Institute for Education by Radio, June 23 to July 3, 1930, at Columbus, Ohio. The institute is primarily for radio broadcasters, but is also of interest to educators.

The Japanese Government was the first to definitely approve the text of the London naval treaty.

The United States is in direct radio communication with more than thirty countries. Before the year 1930 ends direct communication will also be established between the United States, Russia, and Czechoslovakia, while direct operation between Shanghai and San Francisco will be set up in June.

Hunter College is preparing to celebrate in October the 2,000th anniversary of the birth of Virgil. A poetry contest in English on Virgil and a formal chapel assembly are on the program, and the Hunter College Bulletin will publish a special Virgil supplement.

Over the Library Desk

Martin Luther, in his "Table Talk," says, "All who would study with advantage in any art whatsoever ought to betake themselves to the reading of some sure and certain books oftentimes over; for to read many books produceth confusion rather than learning, like as those who dwell everywhere are not anywhere at home."

Many new and interesting books may be found on the new-book shelf. Among them are:

Cleland—Our Prehistoric Ancestors.
Holy Bible
A complete ten-volume set of "The American Secretaries of State and their Diplomacy."

Rich—Family Life Today.
Smith and Blough—Planning a Career.

Babson—Business Barometers.

Marry on April 21

When Erman R. Barrett of Maryville and Geraldine Hunt of Ravenwood were married in Kansas City, Kansas, during the Easter vacation, the culmination of another campus romance was reached. Mr. Barrett, a sophomore, and Miss Hunt, also a sophomore, were married at 10:00 o'clock, Monday morning, April 21, by the Rev. D. F. Cross, of a Kansas City Christian Church.

Mrs. Barrett, daughter of Mrs. V. O. Hunt, is a student of violin at the College Conservatory, a member of the College orchestra, and a former member of the student council. She was a Tower Queen during her freshman year.

Mr. Barrett is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ellwood Barrett, and a member of the student council, of the College band and orchestra, and of the Sigma Tau Gamma Fraternity. He is also circulation and advertising manager of the Northwest Missourian.

Mr. and Mrs. Barrett will continue in school during the remainder of this year. They will be at home at 522 North Market.

Senior Play

speech department.
The plot is built around the daring means taken by Petruccio to tame his shrewish wife, Katherine. Undaunted by her reputation as a vixen whose temper has frightened away all previous suitors, Petruccio stops at no means short of starving his wife, poking fun at the clothes she wants, and coming to the wedding dressed in the most outlandish clothes imaginable.

The high-handed way in which Petruccio deals with the servants and the by-play among the servants themselves and to the amusement furnished by the play. The attempts of Grumio, a servant, to ape the commanding tones of Petruccio—when Petruccio is absent, should also be a source of entertainment.

The cast of characters as chosen so far is as follows:

Petruccio—Frank Mann.
Baptista—Vance Geiger.

Pedro—Doyle Smith.

College Is Host to Mothers of S.T.C. Students

Mothers of Students From Many Towns Enjoy Banquets and Programs, Dr. H. E. Jensen Speaks.

One hundred fifty mothers, it was estimated, attended the annual Mothers' Day activities at the College, Wednesday, April 30. Approximately one-half this number came to visit their sons and daughters from out of town. Bad roads and threatening weather reduced the attendance considerably.

Mrs. H. F. Egdorf, mother of Mac Egdorf, traveled the farthest to be present for the day's program. She came from her home in Sedalia, a distance of 212 miles. Mildred Christie's mother, Mrs. B. F. Christie of Moberly, came 175 miles.

Mothers began to arrive at the College administration building about eight o'clock Wednesday morning for registration, and by the time of the regular assembly program at ten, the auditorium was well filled with students and their mothers. The lecture at assembly was given by Dr. Howard E. Jensen, of the sociology department of the University of Missouri.

Banquets were given by the College for the students and their mothers at Residence Hall, Christian Church, and Presbyterian Church. The following were the toastmasters and speakers at these banquets:

"A Doll's House," a three-act play by Henrik Ibsen, was presented by the Dramatics Club before an audience of students and mothers in the afternoon. The play, whose theme was the liberation of woman, was well received.

The mothers who remained in Maryville Wednesday evening, received a musical treat when the Augustana Choir of Sioux Falls, South Dakota, gave a concert in the College auditorium at 8:00. The mothers were the guests of the College at the program.

Dr. Jensen Talks on Community Life

"We can have the kind of community life that we want," was the declaration of Dr. Howard E. Jensen of the department of sociology at the University of Missouri, in his address before the student body and some two hundred mothers, Wednesday morning, April 30. "The chief danger to the social welfare of a community," Dr. Jensen went on to say, "is the belief that a people can remain sound without education." Nothing is so all-inclusive as the knowledge of the absolutely misinformed.

"In 1900," the speaker stated, "the infant mortality was 150 per thousand. Today it is less than seventy per thousand. The death rate of twelve per thousand is one-third less than it was thirty years ago. And, contrary to the common belief, juvenile delinquency is also decreasing. These changes are being brought about by the realization of a need for trained nurses, doctors, and social workers."

"Illness and unemployment," he continued, "are the principal causes of low living standards. Social workers should be measured by the same standards as those of any other profession and not by the evil deed of quacks and charlatans. The only way to become an authority on group life is to study it first-hand. Sanity is no a characteristic tendency of adolescence; and illikeman should not have been rashly judged by the sensational accounts given in the newspapers." Such were some of the statements made by Dr. Jensen in his effort to give his audience a true conception of social work, its problems and the things it is trying to do.

In concluding, the speaker reiterated his contention that if you want community welfare, you can have it. But it must be paid for generously, sought after wisely, and viewed in a far-sighted manner.

Proceeding the lecture, devotional exercises were conducted by Dr. Dildine, and President Lamkin made announcements regarding seating at assembly, the entertainment program, and the short course. Following the lecture the assembly was adjourned.

"What can be done for water on the knees."
"Wear pumps."

"Trip to Mars" Is Theme at Banquet

"A Trip to Mars" was the theme carried out in the second annual mathematics banquet, attended by nineteen majors and minors in mathematics and the members of the mathematics faculty of the College. The banquet was held Tuesday evening, May 6, at six o'clock, in Yehle's Tea Room.

Toastmaster at the banquet was Charles Rupert. Mr. Colbert's talk, "Canals," was made up of interesting and amusing experiences in which Mathematics had saved the day. "Satellites" was the title of Ernest Landen's talk in which he told amusing stories in the terms of a trip to Mars. In "Telescopes," Miss Helwig looked into the distance and saw the alumni math students telling what they had been doing since graduation.

Table decorations were in orchid and purple with a center-piece of irises, around which were arranged the letters of the word, mathematics.

Plans were made at the banquet for the formation of a closer organization of the students of mathematics. It was decided to compile a list of all seniors majoring or minoring in math together with their address and occupation. This list is to be kept up-to-date from year to year. Ernest Landen was made chairman of the organization.

Those who were present at the banquet included: Miss Helwig, Mr. Colbert, Ernest Landen, Verneta Moore, Hazel Moore, Mary Pistole, Myrtle Wells, Dorothy White, Lois Roper, Walter Mutz, Charles Rupert, Imogene Woolf, Allen Donk, Ruby Donk, Leroy Nelson, and Wayne Veneill.

The Stroller

By T. T. T.

This popularity contest may be all right but to the Stroller it has all the earmarks of a Listerine advertisement. Nevertheless, it might be a diplomatic step for all the good-looking young men to wash their neck and ears, not to mention their pedal appendages. Onions and garlic should be temporarily dropped from the diet, and several yards of gum should be secured from the book store for distribution. A second-hand or "seasoned" Ford, as the salesmen call them, might swing a few scattering votes here and there.

But seriously, the Stroller is heartily in favor of the contests. May the best man win, and the losers profit by the experience. The Stroller merely wonders if it is insinuated by the prize being offered the winner that a popular man has time to lounge.

It is a matter of common knowledge at Maryville that the Bears are planning to produce an even better basketball team than the all-victorious team of 1930. The Stroller had this fact brought even more forcibly to his mind when he saw Mr. Kinnaird trotting in off the training school playground with a basketball under his arm the other morning. Mr. Kinnaird is convinced that golf is not the only game for men not so young.

Here is the Stroller's idea of a time when almost any kind of language should be declared legal: Several sleepy, hungry young men having car trouble just ten miles from home at five a.m., when someone happens by who knows them. At least the Stroller thought he knew H. Fischer and George Adams and some others when he saw them out on the south pavement last Saturday morning.

It has always been a matter of great concern to the Stroller what they wanted to call it commencement for. He believes it would seem to him if he were a senior, that it was the end. For if, after going to school for sixteen years, these seniors are reminded that it is just the beginning, they might possibly be comforted with the thought that the first sixteen years are the hardest. Well, we live and learn—if we live long enough.

All of which reminds the Stroller that Walter Allen is an economist. He slept away from home one night recently and forgot to take his sleeping apparel. Now Walter is an intellectual giant and not a physical one as everyone knows. So, when it turned out that a big six-footer with a heart of corresponding dimensions loaned Walter the necessary garments, Mr. Allen got into the nether half of the outfit, but he didn't have any use for the other half. Being accustomed to meeting every situation efficiently, Walter tied the string under his chin, and slept very soundly that night. Some of the boys who stayed at 117 Stewart Road, Columbia, said they thought the little boy had come down to see the Christmas tree when lively Walter came in the next morning.

The Stroller would hesitate to accuse the Y. W. girls of not knowing that the war is over, but he did see in the paper that they went on a retreat last week.

Dale Knepper seems to be of the opinion that not all shorthand is as short as the name would imply. He even goes so far as to say that he believes he could save time by drawing a picture of it instead of trying to write it in shorthand.

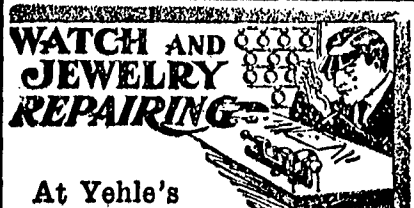

It is reported that L. N. Briken needed a plumber over at the dorm the other night, when the fountain would not turn off.

Well, school must be about out. It seems that everybody is either going to graduate or has a job—Reservations for alumni dinner plates and May Foto seats are piling in, which might cause some to say "They're saving the best 'till the last."

High School Seniors Present Annual Play

When Eliso Benedotti, played by Beatrice Cox, falls in love with Austin Bovans, an automobile salesman, played by Richard Barrett, she causes Bovans to lose possession of a girl's boarding school, and to fall heir to a wife instead.

Such was the plot of the annual College High School senior play presented Tuesday night in the College auditorium. The automobile salesman was made owner of the school on the condition that none of the girls at the school should fall in love with him. Whereupon, he took up his duties, determined to manage the school upon the theory that girls should be educated to be charming.

Much amusement was caused by the twins, Jim and Tim; by Homer Johns, a gruff business man, played by Robert Lawrence; and by Miss Curtis, played by Clara McGinness. The play was directed by Clinton Morris assisted by Mr. Miller. The cast of characters is as follows:

Austin Bovans—Richard Barrett.
David MacKenzie—Earl Blauvelt.
George Boyd—LeRoy Morrow.
Jim Simpkins—Francis Bowen.
Tim Simpkins—Raymond Rickman.
Homer Johns—Robert Lawrence.
Eliso Benedotti—Beatrice Cox.

Some S. T. C. History

Walking was at one time a necessary form of amusement for the co-eds of the Northwest Missouri State Teachers College.

Mrs. Leo Patterson, Ganister, Pennsylvanian, who attended the first session of the College in 1905 and graduated in 1909, says that students were compelled to walk more than a mile to get from one class to another.

The present administration building was at that time under construction. The Maryville Seminary, the seat of an old academy, was in the possession of the College, and as many classes as could be accommodated were held there. This building, which was razed four years ago, stood on West First Street, at the summit of "Seminary Hill." President Deerwester, the first president of the College, had his office in the basement of the Carnegie Library. The Training School was housed on West Fourth Street in what is now the Farm Bureau office. Classes were held in various upstairs rooms on Main Street and West Third Street.

It was necessary to allow a fifteen minute recess between classes to give students the opportunity to go from one class meeting to another.

Assembly Speaker Tells How to Fail

Some tips for those who want to be failures were given in an address by Mr. Milton C. Towner, professor of religious education at the University of Missouri, before the College assembly Monday morning. The assembly last week was held on May 5, instead of on Wednesday, May 7, the regular date.

"Success," said the speaker in introducing his theme, is in the desire and the thinking of everyone. But perhaps too few think about failure." Mr. Towner then proceeded to give some bits of advice which, if followed, will eventually lead to failure.

The first of these hints on failure was rationalization; that is, finding a reason to do what one wants to do after he has done it. The second means which might be employed by those bent on failure is making excuses. The two favorite recourses taken by those who make excuses are to place the blame on other persons and on uncontrollable events.

A third method of bringing failure on one's self, according to Mr. Towner, is to day dream instead of attempting to meet life as it is.

After giving some common recipes for failure, the religious educator illustrated with a parable as to what it takes to make a success. In the story two men, one of whom helped those with whom he came in contact, and another who was not considerate of others, the speaker illustrated what must have been meant by the verse from the Bible, "I was hungry and ye fed me, thirsty and ye gave me drink, naked and ye clothed me."

Preceding the lecture, President Lamkin who presided at the assembly made several important announcements. The commencement speakers for high school and college were announced as in the last issue of the Northwest Missourian. Several meetings and the annual May Queen election were announced. Meetings of classes were called at the close of the assembly for the election of May Queen attendants.

College Students Attend Convention

Three members of the Northwest Missourian staff and Mr. LaMar, director of publicity and editor of the College paper, were in Columbia last weekend for the Saturday morning session of the Missouri College Newspaper Association Convention. Nettie Price, recording secretary of the Association, Norvel Saylor, sports writer for the Northwest Missourian, and Clarence Worley, assistant editor, were those who attended the convention. Grace Galatin attended as a visitor.

One second place and three thirds was the record made by the Northwest Missourian in the state contest. The paper won second place in sports story, and third in editorial and news story. The sports story was written by Norvel Saylor, a sophomore in the College, and the editorial and news story were written by Clarence Worley, a senior in the College. The paper itself was judged third among the college publications entered.

The Missouri Valley College "Delta," publication of Missouri Valley College at Marshall, was awarded the large trophy cup offered by the St. Louis Globe-Democrat for the best college newspaper entered. The "Delta" is edited by Mr. R. Wilson Brown, who was very active as president of the organization for 1929-30. The Warrensburg "Student" was placed second and the Northwest Missourian third.

Monday Forum Will Hear Book Reviews

The Rev. Robert W. Burns gave a short talk on the book "Race Attitudes in Children" by B. Lasker, at the Forum Luncheon, Monday, May 12. In this review Mr. Burns showed how easily children may be led to form attitudes toward people of the different races by noting the attitudes of their parents or other adults.

The following program for the summer months has been outlined by the program committee:

May 19—"Philosophy and Religion" O. L. Curl.

May 26—"Farm Relief," Roy Kinnaird.

June 2—"Sidewalks of New York," Homer T. Phillips.

Raymond Brown was elected superintendent of schools at Santa Rosa for the coming year instead of at Maitland as stated in the last issue of the Northwest Missourian.

Teacher (trying to show the meaning of kindness): "If I stopped a man from beating a donkey, what would that show?"

Wilbur Cox Writes of Historic Sites

Following is a letter received some time ago by Mr. Cook from Wilbur Cox, B. S. '27, former football player, who is now teaching at Hubbard, Ohio. Homer Richmond, and Irvin Gubser, former S. T. C. students, are also teaching at Hubbard. Following, in part, is Wilbur's letter:

"Lesson sixteen (history correspondence course) was very interesting to me for several reasons. William McKinley was born in Niles, Ohio, a town only ten miles from Hubbard. Mr. Gubser, Mr. Richmond, and I have visited his birthplace. It is just outside of Niles about one mile.

"Then we have a man living here in town who was the right hand man of Mark Hanna. He is a Jew, Jack Colver by name. Mr. Colver simply verifies the methods used by politicians of that day. Hanna used these means also.

"I thought these few facts might be of interest to you as they give a personal touch to a subject which some of us are inclined to call 'dead.'
"Ohio is a pretty good place to teach."
